MAKE MARK

Brussels 2025

Make a Mark is a 12-hour design and creativity marathon benefitting local humanitarian causes.

Next edition

Saturday March 15, 2025 – Muntpunt, Brussels

We'll help 10 local social-profits* with design and creativity

Wanted: Organisations

Can your social organisation use some help from top creatives? We'll pick 10 organisations*.

Here's how it works

Wanted: Makers

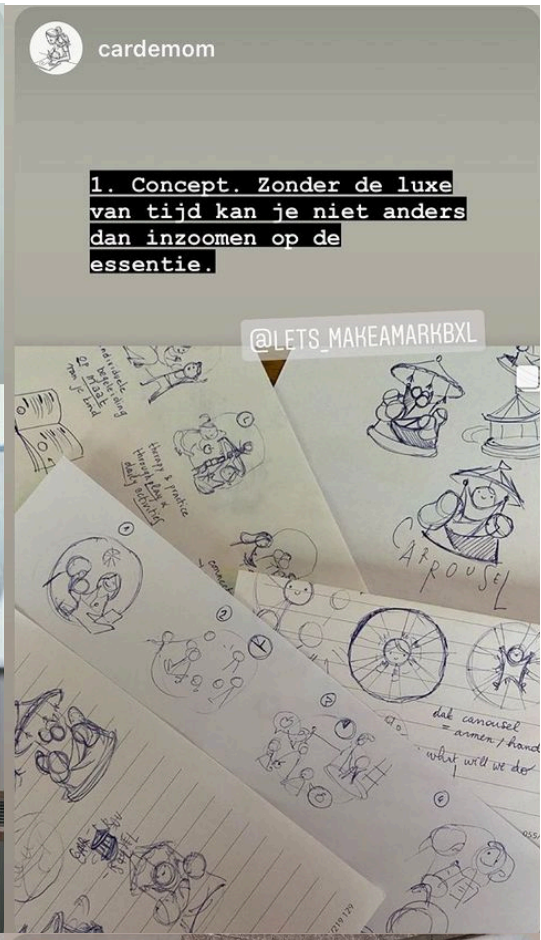

Do you want to make something useful for a local impact organisation? You'll join a team of like minded creatives.

Tell me more

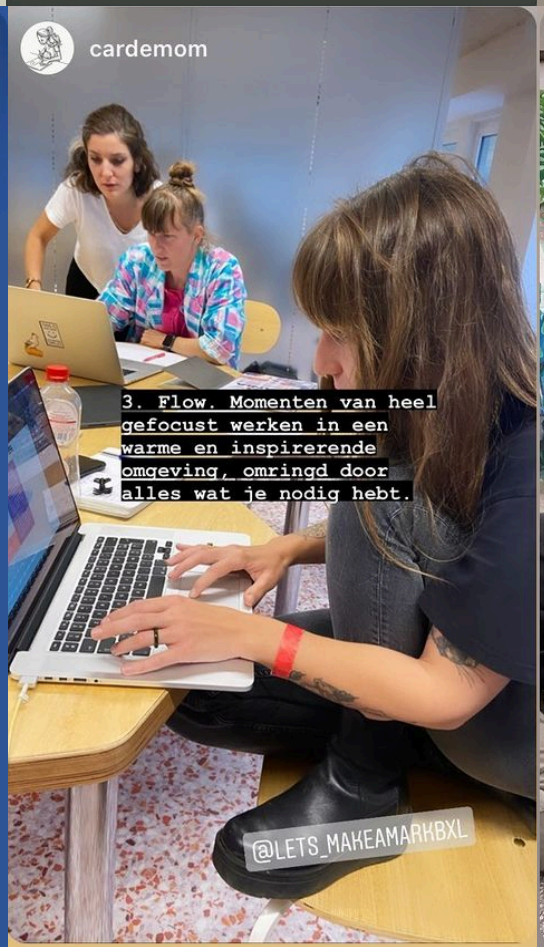

* Both local social profit organisations (such as non-profit organisations, foundations and other socially specialised organisations) and local non-recognised organisations (such as neighbourhood committees, private individuals and informal groups) are eligible to participate.

Make A Mark =
10 non profits
10 teams
+- 60 creatives, makers, builders

Ik deed al twee keer mee met deze make-a-thon en dat was twee keer zwaar de moeite, want een soort condensatie van alles wat ik zo fijn vind aan dingen creëren:

1. Concept. Zonder de luxe van tijd kan je niet anders dan inzoomen op de essentie.

3. Flow. Momenten van heel gefocust werken in een warme en inspirerende omgeving, omringd door alles wat je nodig hebt.

Een bijzondere opdracht vandaag.
Via @lets_makeamarkbxl shoot ik vandaag de hele dag als vrijwilliger voor @100pap.beer.
Zij verkopen bier en limonades (bijzonder lekker overigens) waarvan alle opbrengst naar projecten voor mensen zonder papieren gaat.

In the past years hundreds of creatives have made social-profits look fabulous with a day of voluntary design work.

Info for organisations

There are only 10 organisations we can help each year. With projects like a branding update (new logo, visual identity), a communications strategy, marketing campaign, social media assets,.. You'd be amazed of what a team of motivated creatives can accomplish in a day.

Every year more than 10 organisations apply, so we have to make a selection.

- Local social-profits. We choose organisations from Brussels that help Brussels. Btw, there's a Make a Mark in Ghent and Antwerp now too.
- Important challenges. We choose organisations that can really use a hand.

Info for Makers

You'll spend the whole day at Muntpunt, collaborating in a team, tackling a creative challenge for a local organisation.

We'll provide WiFi, food, drinks, and great company to keep you energized throughout the day.

We select Makers in advance, ensuring we form the most effective teams to tackle the challenges. We'll let you know at the end of January if you got selected.

A few weeks after that you'll meet your team members and the organisation to discuss their challenge. It will take place during a one-hour meeting on an evening in mid-February.

Please make sure you can make it.

FAQ

Is this website really just a Google doc?
Yes, it is.

Do Makers get paid for the day of work?
Kind of. In drinks, delicious snacks and good vibes.

Do organisations need to pay to participate?
Nope. The Makers gift their time and talent to help Brussels. No strings attached.

Is there a Bruzz article with video that can give me a sense of the vibe of the event?
Yes, there is. You can find it here.

Would you like to organize Make a Mark in your city?
Go for it! It's already happening in tens of cities around the globe. You can find guides and checklist on the global website of Make a Mark.

About the organizers

This is already the 7th edition of Make a Mark Brussels.

The instigator is Gwen Dubois. An interior architect & creative activist from Jette.

She's been organizing it from the start with Piet Lambrecht, who until recently lead the communication of Munpunt.
